She is in the process of creating local, knowledge-driven, high-end hotels aimed at business travelers. We asked Katia about her new business. What is 1010skys? Where is it located? 1010Skys was born on the ground floor of the Hotel Roi Soleil, opened by the firm Courant & Marchand in 1888. The French label Guerlain is based in Lille since the 1920s. How did you come up with the idea? We've been in the hospitality business for a long time. We have been closely involved with the development of the hotel industry for years. We have been in every imaginable hotel from the luxury class to small business hotels. We have been attending business fairs and conferences for over 20 years, especially in the US. Our team is always working on "cruising" on their own and we noticed the business travelers' evolution when they started to look for what was missing in the market. We could see that they were becoming more demanding and that this was starting to have a real impact on their experience, especially in Paris. We focused our attention on this market. We decided that something was missing on the market and we started to work on the fundamentals, trying to understand the basics. We started by looking for a large space with a good trade-in value; we decided on the exhibition center, where you have the economic and industrial center of the Lille area, and the USP (Unique Selling Point) that is complementary to the image of Guerlain - which is luxury. And then, with our partner Alexandre Carpentier, we set up the strategy. As for our collateral, we chose the image of Guerlain because we know and respect its history. We then developed the concept of creating a luxury business hotel that is still and yet modern, modern with details and comfort. How did you fund the project? We have a long-term relationship with

I have a form in a page that has a lot of rows, and I would like to send the contents of the form to a PHP script. In the past, I have been able to accomplish this with code that looks like this: ". $id. "' $name. ""' } ?> When I do this, it works just fine and I get the values back fine as well. However, I would like to include code that serializes the array into a string, and I can't figure out how to accomplish this. Anyone have any suggestions? A: serialize is your best option. It does not require sending the data to a different action page, but can do it easily. 1, 'name'=>'Bill', 'quote'=>'Here is a quote'); $serialized = serialize($ 50b96ab0b6

The cysteine cathepsin G is a major neutrophil specific cysteine proteinase involved in the degradation of a number of different matrix proteins, including pro-collagen, fibronectin and osteopontin. In addition, cathepsin G displays a strong antifibrinolytic activity. Cathepsin G is a broad specificity proteinase and therefore plays a key role in the removal of damaged tissue, which may include damaged blood platelets or other types of cells, as well as foreign bodies, by surrounding resident phagocytic cells. The catalytic activity of cysteine proteinases is controlled by a cysteine-containing active site. The catalytic residue is usually a cysteine, but the active site of cathepsin G contains a histidine residue instead. The specificity of cathepsin G has been determined by the generation of cathepsin G-specific substrate analogs, which are resistant to attack by a number of cysteine proteinases, but susceptible to hydrolysis by cathepsin G. Structure The complete sequence and structure of cathepsin G (molecular weight 41 kDa) has been determined. Cathepsin G, which was isolated from bovine neutrophils by chromatographic procedures, is a single polypeptide chain containing 408 amino acids. The amino acid sequence of cathepsin G shows a high degree of homology to other cathepsins
