A sensitive and reliable dual-antibody radioimmunoassay (RIA) for measuring plasma norepinephrine (NE) is described. The assay is used to measure NE in 50 samples per 9 h, and requires only about 15 microliters of plasma. The assay is compatible with extraction on disposable filter paper, and has a linear response from 20 to 6000 pg NE/ml. A number of samples of unadulterated human plasma are measured and the results agree well with those obtained by conventional chromatographic methods. The method is used to analyze plasma samples from normal subjects and patients with various diseases. Concentrations of NE are higher in males than in females or in patients with disease. The measurement of NE in plasma by this assay should have useful applications in the diagnosis and management of many illnesses.#ifndef _MIN_MIN #define _MIN_MIN /* - min.c - - min.c - function to determine the minimum value of a number - or scalar input in host memory - (uses a strategy similar to Warren, Giles, & Wike, - IEEE Computer 14(6), pp 53-57, July 1981) - - - min.f - - min.f - Fortran source code for input routine'min_' - (uses standard IEEE math library routines) - - min.c - - min.c - function to determine the minimum value of a number - or scalar input in system memory -
